

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A portable terminal apparatus for communicating with an external device by a cable or radio has a means for selectively sending, to the external device, an information
5 identification code loaded from the external device by the cable or radio.